THIS WEEK IN YEAR 5

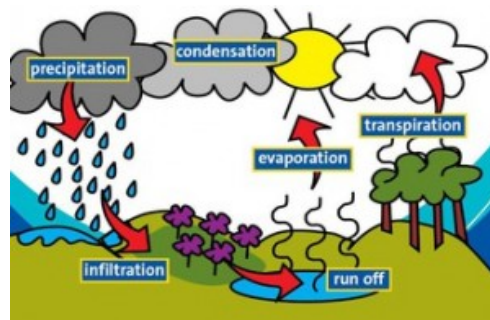

This week Year 5 have embarked on their final efforts in order to prepare for sharing day. The children have all worked incredibly hard on each individual piece of work and group performance and we are sure you will agree that their hard work and efforts paid off- well done Year 5 for such a successful morning, it is evident you have all learned a lot and explored new avenues through your personal inquiry!

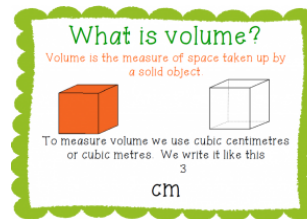

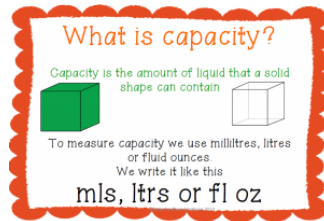

UOI:

Next week, the children will complete their Migration summative assessment in order to demonstrate their learning from the unit linked to the central idea and lines of inquiry. This means that later on in the week they will be introduced to their new UOI- Water and we look forward to the inquiry that comes with it.

5A will begin to gather ideas for their class assembly on 8th January.

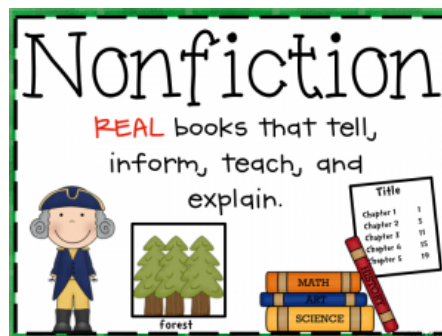

MATHS

In strand maths next week the classes will start to explore the concepts of Capacity & Volume through a series of tasks and active learning.

Number math moves on within the four operations and the children will start to look at and share mental and written strategies for multiplication and division.

ENGLISH

Within the next unit, Year 5 will be identifying the importance of reference and explanation books. We will be learning how to search for relevant and useful information, study the layout and presentation of these types of texts as well as working closely with Ms. Jeves in the Learning Centre. She will be helping us to further our knowledge and inquiry skills through research.

GOLDEN BOOK

5A: Cyrus Chen- for working hard on his independent inquiry

5P: Heather Mcomie - for confidently demonstrating her knowledge of area and perimeters.

5Y: Razeen Khan- for writing a creative poem about the five stages of migration and demonstrating his knowledge of poetic devices.

HOMework

Explore the central idea for our new unit of inquiry- Water. The children have brought home a mind map starter sheet to plot their ideas, thoughts, questions etc about the new unit. They are to add to this sheet so that they can share their current knowledge in class next week.
